Clothing scrap spurs renewed search

October 30, 2007

MONTGOMERY – A weathered pair of women's jeans found in a remote wooded area off Gibou Road sparked a renewed search for Brianna Maitland, who went missing from the area in March 2004, when she was 17 years old. But police said so far they have turned up no new leads.

Police conducted a mile-square wide search with the Vermont State Police Search and Rescue Team, four Connecticut State Police K-9 units and members of the New England K-9 Search and Rescue Monday, canvassing an area they had not searched previously, according to a police statement.

"The article of clothing, a pair of women's jeans, is presently at the Vermont Forensic Laboratory for further examination," the results of which are not expected for several weeks, police said.

Police said they will not continue to search this area.
